To Whom it May Concern

Holger C. Christiansen & Partners, P.C., architects for Douglas County High School, have provided Douglas County School District with a creative, innovative and cost conscious remodeling project. The $5.7 million Douglas County High School Addition/Remodel project is a source of pride for the community. The architect was able to transform the twenty year old high school with 5 separate additions to the point that it now compares favorably with the other high schools in the school district.

Holger Christiansen brought to the project creative input which resulted in innovative solutions through a difficult limited budget remodeling project. Holger personally followed this project through construction and his attention to detail and continued efforts on behalf of the owner are greatly appreciated.

I believe Holger C. Christiansen & Partners, P.C. is an excellent school design firm with ability to deliver a project on time and within budget. I have enjoyed association with the firm and look forward to work with them on future projects.

Sincerely,
